Bringing treasures
and memories home

April-May-June Edition

Spring is in the air and summer is around the corner! Flowers are blooming, grass is turning green, bunnies, birds and lizards are out. There is nothing like enjoying the warmer weather and anticipating the fun summer ahead.

In addition to all the fun spring and summer activities, vintage and antique enthusiasts tend to shop. Sometimes it is just nice to get into an air-conditioned store or mall and reminisce about the past while enjoying treasure after treasure.

If you have a booth in a vintage or antique building, dress it up for spring and summer. Soft pastel colors, mentions of spring and sunshine and floral create a welcoming and enticing area to attract shoppers. Pretty vases are popular and create images of beautiful floral arrangements. Outdoor vintage pottery such as frogs, butterflies, and lizards are fun and sell quickly. Outdoor pottery for plants in bright colors or animal shapes are also sought after items.

For those who specialize in vintage clothing, now is the time to put out the items people, particularly high school and college kids, are looking to wear this summer. Tank tops, cut-off jeans, summer dresses, tie-dye, sandals, summer hats...all the fun summer clothing from yesteryear is new again.

People who enjoy golf or are just learning to play will often look for clubs or bags in vintage stores. Be sure to have them in full view and priced right as they should sell quickly.

Pretty metal figures or planters that can go outside on patio tables appeal to vintage enthusiasts. Table cloths, place mats and picnic baskets add to the fun.

Take advantage of spring and summer in all ways possible when it comes to selling items in your booth or decorating your home or office. Vintage décor brightens everyone's day!
